Three questions. About a minute. Your own words.

Use this after a rushed decision, before you rush into another one.

01 Name the idea.

What is the new reason for this decision? Describe it without using the last result as your reason.

☐

02 Name the change.

What changed in the setup or information? Separate something you can point to from something you wish for.

☐

03 Name the risk.

What could contradict the idea? Write down what would make you reconsider before acting.

☐
